Final Results Of The Appomattox Horse Show

In spite of the bad weather, the second annual Appomattox Horse Show held here Saturday proved highly successful. About seventy horses were entered from throughout the Old Dominion, but the rain kept quite a number of out-of-state entries from coming. The Lions Club and Jaycees would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the local merchants, businessmen, farmers and all of the fans who helped make the show possible.

A beautiful challenge trophy was donated and presented by Congressman Watkins M. Abbitt. This trophy was presented to the winner of the Championship Walking Horse Class, and was won by T. M. Trent, of Appomattox. It must be won by the same owner three successive years for permanent possession.

Marketing Quotas

The U. S. Department of Agriculture today announced a marketing quota penalty rate of $1.08 per bushel on "excess" wheat of the 1960 crop.

As directed by law, the rate of the marketing quota penalty is 45 per cent of the parity price per bushel of wheat as of May 1 of the calendar year in which the crop is harvested. The current parity price for wheat is $2.39 per bushel.

Growers approved marketing quotas for the 1960 wheat crop on July 23, 1959. When wheat marketing quotas are in effect, a farmer who does not comply with the wheat acreage allotment established for his farm is subject to a penalty on his farm marketing excess, unless he harvests 15 acres or less or has signed an agreement permitting him to produce up to 30 acres of wheat for feed use on the farm.

Wheat produced on a farm on which the wheat acreage is in excess of the allotment is not eligible for price support.

The national average minimum support price for 1960-crop wheat is $1.77 per bushel, which was 75 per cent of parity. The final average support price for the 1960 crop will be 75 per cent of the effective parity as of July 1, 1960, if this is higher.

Federal Aid Means Control Says Abbitt

Washington, D. C.- Representative Watkins M. Abbitt (D-Va.) sharply attacked the principle of Federal aid for local school construction during House debate on the School Construction Assistance Act of 1960.

"If the Federal government gradually takes over the financial burden of the public schools, so will it take over control," Abbitt declared.

The Fourth District congressman asserted that "insertion in a bill of a pious clause disavowing any intention of Federal control" will not prevent encronchment and he charged that those who contend it will are not being "unrealistic."

Abbitt said that the principle of local and state control of education is one of the basic foundations of democratic government. "The cardinal principle of the separation of church and state is not much more important than the separation of primary and secondary education from the Federal government," he insisted.

Not only must education be adapted to the local needs but it must be keyed to local responsibility, the congressman said. "When Federal funds flow into education, just as surely there will follow the imposition of an increasing measure of Federal control in matters of educational policy."

Although the House bill would provide a sum of $325,000,000 per year for three years to be allocated to the states for school construction alone, Abbitt characterized this as only a first step toward an eventual all-out effort to "federalize the schools and nationalize the lives of all American citizens."

Such a step, he asserted, would be of immense danger to democracy in America. The Federal government, he said, is not financially able to assume the burden of school construction and the eventual result would be an increase in the national debt and a loss of local incentive to provide for the public schools.
